Marjoram

Origanum majorana

AROMATIC EGYPTIAN GRADE

DESCRIPTION

Egyptian marjoram (Origanum majorana) from Fayoum is one of Egypt's long-established export herbs, supplied rubbed, whole and as powder. Marjoram is milder and sweeter than oregano, and although the two are botanically close they are distinct products — specify the botanical name, since substitution between them is a documented issue in the trade.

Rubbed marjoram is the form most commonly specified for culinary and blending applications: the leaf is separated from the stalk and lightly broken, giving good aroma release with a leaf appearance the end user recognises. Whole leaf and powder are supplied where the buyer's process calls for them.

Applications include culinary seasoning and spice blends, meat and convenience-food manufacture, herbal infusions, and botanical extraction. Fayoum's warm days, cool nights and dry harvest window allow the crop to be dried quickly, preserving both volatile oil and the grey-green leaf colour buyers associate with well-handled material.

Material is cleaned to remove stalk and field debris, and every shipment carries a lot-specific certificate of analysis. Specifications are available upon request and can be tailored to buyer requirements, including the degree of rubbing and the packing format. We ship FOB Alexandria in PP bags or paper sacks with the complete export documentation set. Request a sample to evaluate aroma, colour and stalk content against your own specification.
