White Bean Seeds

Phaseolus lunatus

PREMIUM FOOD GRADE

DESCRIPTION

Egyptian white beans (Phaseolus lunatus) from the Nile Delta are supplied whole and dried. Buyers judge dried beans on size uniformity, colour, the proportion of split, shrivelled and discoloured seed, and on cooking behaviour — the last of which is what a canner or a food manufacturer ultimately cares about.

Size grade should be stated as a screen specification rather than by trade nickname, since terminology varies between markets. Where the material is destined for canning, buyers usually specify cooking and hydration behaviour as well as the physical parameters, and those are agreed per contract.

Applications include canning and ready-meal manufacture, soup and stew production, food service, retail packing, and institutional catering. Demand across the Middle East and North Africa for dried pulses is well established and is bought on consistency between deliveries.

The Nile Delta's fertile alluvial soils and reliable dry harvest window suit the crop, and material passes a cleaning sequence with de-stoning, sieving, gravity separation, aspiration and magnetic separation, with optical sorting where a colour or foreign-matter specification requires it. Each shipment carries a lot-specific certificate of analysis. Specifications are available upon request and can be tailored to buyer requirements. We ship FOB Alexandria with the complete export documentation set; packaging options can be discussed based on order requirements.
