White Kidney Beans

Phaseolus vulgaris

UNIFORM SIZE / SORTED

DESCRIPTION

Egyptian white kidney beans (Phaseolus vulgaris) from Beheira are supplied whole and dried. Beheira, in the western Nile Delta, is a long-established growing area for the crop, and the material is bought principally by canners, ready-meal manufacturers and the retail packing trade.

Buyers judge white kidney beans on size uniformity, colour and brightness, the proportion of split, shrivelled and discoloured seed, and on cooking and hydration behaviour. Canners in particular specify hydration performance alongside the physical parameters, since it determines yield and appearance in the finished can.

Applications include canning and ready-meal manufacture, soup and stew production, food service and institutional catering, retail packing, and food-supplement manufacture where the bean is used as an extraction feedstock.

Beheira's alluvial soils and the reliable dry harvest window suit the crop, and material passes a cleaning sequence with de-stoning, sieving, gravity separation, aspiration and magnetic separation, with optical sorting where a colour or foreign-matter specification requires it. Each shipment carries a certificate of analysis for the lot supplied. Specifications are available upon request and can be tailored to buyer requirements, including size grade and packing format. We ship FOB Alexandria with the complete export documentation set; packaging options can be discussed based on order requirements.
